BEWARE OF RECOVERY PITCH SCAMS!

People are offered a refund on a service they were previously provided. The scammer will ask you to provide access to your computer to give you that refund.

After you have logged in to your bank, the scammer at this point will either have your account username and password and/or deposited money into their own account.

WARNING SIGNS/HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF

- Never pay a fee in advance to receive a refund
- Be cautious of emails or calls advising that you are eligible for a refund
- Have your computer serviced by a reputable business
- Never allow someone to have remote access to your computer
- Never pay with a giftcard
- Never provide your online banking information TO ANYONE

Tips Courtesy of the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre

Info@KnowledgeFlow.ca
Facebook.KnowledgeFlow.ca
LinkedIn.KnowledgeFlow.ca
Twitter.KnowledgeFlow.ca